GENERAL INFORMATION

TSU CAMPUS

Trinity Southwest University is located near the foothills of the beautiful Sandia Mountains in Albuquerque, New Mexico, surrounded by the rich and diverse cultural heritage of the American southwest. The TSU campus occupies several locations along the beautiful “Journal Center” stretch of the “Jefferson Corridor” in Albuquerque, including classrooms, an administrative center, Husted Lecture Hall, faculty offices, the TSU Research Library, the TSU Archaeology Research Center (ARC), and the remarkable TSU Museum of Archaeology. In the immediate mix with TSU facilities are a wide variety of restaurants, Starbucks and other coffee and tea establishments, and a greenbelt with walking/jogging trails, workout stations, grassy parks, picnic tables, and thousands of trees. Also contiguous with the TSU ‘campus’ are the Marriott Pyramid Hotel and Marriott Courtyard Hotel, and a new Cabela’s store!

EDUCATIONAL PHILOSOPHY

TSU embraces a nontraditional educational philosophy that places the focus of educational processes on the effective personal learning modes of the individual student, rather than on the predictably homogenized instructional programs made for, and driven by, the traditional needs of institutions. Indeed, it is the need of the adult student, not the need of the institution that drives the nontraditional approach to education. At TSU, each student, together with an advisor or dean and with the approval of the Academic Committee, determines, to a significant degree, the kind of learning experiences that best fit his/her individual needs, talents, and preferences. We believe such self-directed study, with appropriate guidance and assistance stimulates higher levels of motivation and achievement in adult learners, who know what they want to accomplish in their individual pursuit of higher education.

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of Trinity Southwest University is to provide quality higher education for adult learners, teaching them, through a variety of biblically-based academic disciplines, to uphold the divine authority of the Bible as God’s only inspired representation of reality to humankind, and equipping them to apply its eternal truths to all phases of life.

DOCTRINAL POSITION

TSU is a trans-denominational institution in the evangelical mainstream of the historic Christian Faith. However, we view “creedal formulations” and “statements of faith” beyond the Bible itself as “grids” that relegate the Word of God to “patient” status, rather than its proper role as “agent” in our lives. Therefore, we humbly submit our minds to the Bible by embracing Scripture (comprised of the ancient Hebrew Tanakh and the New Testament) as the only written, divinely inspired representation of reality given by God to humankind, speaking with absolute and authority in all matters upon which it touches.

HISTORY OF TSU

Throughout the 1980s a small school in northeast Oklahoma, known as Southwest Biblical Seminary, served as a center of Bible-based education for local students, and operated as an extension center of an internationally-recognized seminary, known for its pioneering work in the area of theological distance education. In 1989, the school moved to Albuquerque, New Mexico where it continued to serve students through distance programs. In 1990, it became the largest evangelical college and seminary program in New Mexico. It was soon widely recognized as Trinity Southwest University, as it developed multiple colleges and educational programs. During the 1990s, Trinity Southwest became known as a regional center of Christian scholarship, drawing top scholars from across the nation and world for on-campus lectures and symposia. The TSU International Symposia on Archaeology & the Bible became a unique and important event for biblical archaeology enthusiasts worldwide. In 2001, with its multi-college/institute structure, Trinity Southwest University became an independent institution of Christian higher education. Today, TSU makes its degree programs available to students, both local and around the globe, through multiple delivery systems—from surface and air delivery, to the ever-advancing Internet technologies. In 2017, TSU welcomed to its campus Veritas International University (main campus: Santa Ana, CA), offering a full range of nationally accredited degree programs.

GENERAL & ACADEMIC ADMINISTRATION & SERVICES

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION

Trinity Southwest University is governed by an Academic Committee that also serves as its Board of Regents. The Academic Committee (AC) of the University is responsible for establishing and enforcing the general policies and procedures by which the school operates. The five-member Academic Committee is comprised of the Executive Dean, the Dean of Academics, the Dean of Students, the Dean of Faculty, and the Dean of Admissions & Registrar. TSU is a division of Christian Educational Ministries, incorporated in the State of New Mexico as a non-profit, tax-exempt, federally-approved 501(c)(3) religious and educational organization.

ACADEMIC ADMINISTRATION

The Academic operation of the University is overseen by the following administrators:

- Dr. Steven Collins, Executive Dean (member, AC)
- Dr. Glenda Austin, Dean of Admissions & Registrar (member, AC)
- Dr. Richard Encinias, Dean of Students (member, AC)
- Dr. Wes Husted, Dean of Academics (member, AC)
- Dr. Matthew Valerio-Hirschfeld, Dean of Faculty (member AC)
- Dr. Stephen Bockmeier, Director of Academic Research Services (Librarian)
- Dr. Anne Davis, Dean of Educational Advancement

COLLEGE ADMINISTRATION

The TSU Colleges are headed by the following Deans:

- Matthew Valerio-Hirschfeld, PhD, Dean, College of Biblical & Theological Studies
- Gary Byers, PhD, Dean, College of Archaeology & Biblical History
- Richard Encinias, DMin, Dean, College of Biblical Counseling
- Jeannine Bulot, PhD^(c), Dean, College of Biblical Languages
- Glenda Austin, DMin, PhD, Dean, College of University Studies

STRUCTURE OF THE COLLEGES

Each of the Colleges of Trinity Southwest University is founded on a focused area of study. The Dean of each College is responsible to develop, implement and direct the educational programs offered by that College. Every College has a faculty consisting of members holding qualifying credentials, each of whom falls into one of the following instructional categories: Professor, Associate Professor, Research Professor, or Visiting Professor (the category is determined by the number of courses for which a faculty member is responsible, and/or the range of teaching and/or research responsibilities.)

BOOK SERVICES

Trowel Press publishes and sells books written by TSU faculty, students, and other scholars. TSU also partners with publishers and book distributors to offer required and recommended materials for your coursework. TSU course syllabi identify what materials are only available from Trowel Press. We realize that there are many ways to obtain books and materials that are much more cost-effective than a campus bookstore would be. So, use those sources!

FREQUENT QUESTIONS

HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE ME TO COMPLETE MY DEGREE PROGRAM?

There are several factors that determine the time you'll invest in completing your degree program. First, the number of courses—thus, the number of semester credit hours (SCH)—in your program will vary depending on things like transfer and portfolio (equivalent) credit. [Example: If, after transfer and equivalent credit are applied, you need 24 SCH (8 courses) to complete a master's program, then it may be possible for you to complete that work in as little as 6 months. However, your active registration period for such a program will be at least two years, giving you plenty of time to work at a much slower pace, if that's what you want to do. So, the speed of your program is up to you!]

A second factor in the time it takes to complete a degree program is the integration of your studies into your life. The modular nature of TSU courses (see below) allows you, in significant ways, to “do what you study, and study what you do.” This can save you huge amounts of time. [Here's a homely little analogy that captures the concept: Think of your life as a bucket of stones—a very full bucket of stones. The stones represent the responsibilities and activities of your life. And there doesn't seem to be any room in the bucket for another stone, especially one as bulky as a degree program. But what TSU has done is to take a sledgehammer (creativity!) and smash that stone into small pieces, even into sand, if necessary. So, whereas the whole stone was too big to fit into the bucket, now it can be poured over, into and around the other stones with ease!] The nontraditional, self-paced, modular flexibility of a TSU degree program doesn't have to disrupt your life the way a traditional degree program would. Be creative!

A third factor consists of life's unforeseen difficulties. If you were in a traditional school, and a life-crisis arose mid-semester causing you to have to suspend your schoolwork, you'd have to arrange to take “incompletes” in those courses. Then you'd have to complete that coursework within a specified timeframe, or convert them to “withdrew passing,” or receive failing grades (with no tuition refund!). At TSU, the time to complete your active registration is from two to five years, not a mere semester. If you need some time off, you can take it. It is your decision. If you need an extension beyond the two (or five) years, you can get it by paying a modest fee. We'll work with you every step of the way in order to help you complete your degree!

HOW MUCH TIME DOES IT TAKE TO COMPLETE A COURSE?

The average TSU course is 3 semester credit hours (SCH). The average time-investment for one SCH (in both traditional and nontraditional contexts) is roughly 45 clock hours. Thus, a 3 SCH course takes about 135 clock hours to complete. At TSU, each 3 SCH course consists of six learning modules (two foundational modules, followed by four modules selected from a wide range of options). On average, it takes about 135 clock hours to complete all six modules. You'll realize the tremendous flexibility of TSU courses when you begin to select your assignment modules from a long list of options—you can even create modules yourself! (Example: If you already preach or teach a Bible study on a regular basis, you might want to select a preaching or teaching module. In this way, you'll integrate what you're learning in your TSU course by preaching or teaching on it. And you'll get credit for it in the process!) TSU is big on the practical application of everything you're learning. So, by selecting course modules that merge with what you're already doing, clock hours of life double as clock hours toward your degree. TSU not only allows you to pursue your degree goals at the speed of life, but your life itself becomes an exciting classroom.

HOW WILL I GET PERSONAL ASSISTANCE WHEN I NEED IT?

You'll have an Academic Advisor who is only an email or a phone call away. You'll also have the same kind of access to the professors who evaluate your coursework. TSU also offers a full slate of on-campus lecture/seminars where you can interact with faculty members and other students. We also offer vacation seminars and study tours where you can enjoy lots of personal attention and instruction. And all these things can be done for credit as course modules.

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

You can refer to the Tuition & Fees Fact Sheet for this information. But you can rest assured that no matter what TSU degree program you choose, it will probably cost less than the price of a reasonably good used car. It will probably cost less than re-carpeting an average-sized home. It will probably cost less than commuting to work 10 miles (each way) for 3 years. It will probably cost less than eating a fast-food breakfast every weekday for 3 years. Studying at a traditional private school can typically cost from $10,000 to $40,000 per year. By comparison, TSU is very affordable.

TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #4b FREQUENT QUESTIONS

WHAT ABOUT ACCREDITATION?

Trinity Southwest University strives to maintain excellent academic standards and procedures as generally established within the larger international academic community. TSU operates as an exempt, religious, degree-granting institution, as provided by the New Mexico Commission on Higher Education, and required by the Constitution of the New Mexico. TSU reports to the Commission annually for the retention of that status, as required by law. TSU is approved by the Association of Christian Schools International (ACSI) as a provider of continuing education in the areas of Biblical Studies, Theology and Apologetics, and by the New Mexico Department of Vocational Rehabilitation.

TSU has chosen to remain non-aligned with respect to accrediting agencies approved by the US Department of Education. One must understand that throughout the history of our country—up to and including the present—accreditation by self-appointed or governmentally-appointed agencies has always been optional for educational institutions. Although the concept of accreditation is intended to be a safeguard for the quality of education, the fact remains that traditional accreditation is most often compatible with traditional educational approaches, and is generally ill-equipped to deal with the flexible, creative nature of non-traditional education, such as provided by TSU. Furthermore, it is clear that accreditation does not guarantee the quality of education related to the learning process as a whole. There are excellent accredited and non-accredited schools, and there are accredited schools of poor quality. The recognition of these facts has led most colleges, universities, and seminaries to accept credits and degrees from non-accredited institutions on a case-by-case basis (sometimes up to a certain percentage of their admissions as allowed by their accrediting associations). We are always ready to assist our students who wish to pursue transfer of their TSU credits and/or degrees to other institutions.

In 2016 the TSU campus in Albuquerque became a teaching site for nationally accredited Veritas International University (main campus in Santa Ana, CA). Thus, the full range of degree programs offered by VES (BA, MA, MDiv, DMin, and PhD) are available locally in Albuquerque on the TSU campus. All of TSU's facilities are available to VES students, including the excellent TSU Research Library, Museum of Archaeology, Husted Hall (classroom and performance facility), the Archaeology Research Center, and other campus features. Speak to the TSU Director of Admissions/Registrar about how TSU credits and degrees are transferable to accredited VES degree programs. So, if an accredited degree track is a necessary part of your career plans, we can fulfill that need on the TSU Albuquerque Campus.

TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #5a DEGREE PROGRAMS & ADMISSIONS OVERVIEW

THE TSU COLLEGES

Trinity Southwest University offers undergraduate, graduate, and doctoral programs through ten colleges, each representing a separate, biblically-based discipline. TSU degree programs include: the Bachelor of Arts (and others), Master of Arts (MA), Master of Divinity (MDiv), Doctor of Ministry (DMin), and Doctor of Philosophy (PhD). (For certificate and diploma program details, contact the TSU administrative office.) The ten colleges (alphabetical order) and their degree programs are:

- ◆ COLLEGE OF ARCHAEOLOGY & BIBLICAL HISTORY—MA, PhD
- ◆ COLLEGE OF BIBLICAL COUNSELING—MA, MDiv, DMin
- ◆ COLLEGE OF BIBLICAL LANGUAGES—MA, program emphasis
- ◆ COLLEGE OF BIBLICAL & THEOLOGICAL STUDIES—MA, MDiv, DMin, PhD
- ◆ COLLEGE OF UNIVERSITY STUDIES—BA, BRS, BIS, BUS

GENERAL PREREQUISITES FOR DEGREE PROGRAMS (see applicable Degree Programs Fact Sheet for details)

- ◆ Bachelor of Arts: a high school diploma; at least 60 semester credit hours (SCH) of college work (or equivalent) that includes 35 SCH of General Studies (or equivalent)
- ◆ Bachelor of Religious Studies: a high school diploma; at least 60 SCH of college work (or equivalent)
- ◆ Bachelor of Interdisciplinary or University Studies: a high school diploma; at least 60 SCH of college work (or equivalent)
- ◆ Master of Arts: a bachelor's degree (or equivalent) that includes 35 SCH of General Studies (or equivalent)
- ◆ Master of Divinity: a bachelor's degree (or equivalent)
- ◆ Doctor of Ministry: a relevant master's degree (or equivalent)
- ◆ Doctor of Philosophy: a relevant master's degree (or equivalent); see applicable Fact Sheets for language prerequisites

LENGTH OF DEGREE PROGRAMS (in semester credit hours, before applying transfer and/or portfolio credits)

The length of a degree program refers to the number of semester credit hours (SCH) needed to complete it. The total number of SCH required for a given degree program will be reduced by the amount of allowable transfer credit from other institutions, and/or relevant portfolio (equivalent) credit as determined by the Academic Committee. [Example: if a TSU degree program is 48 SCH in length, and you are allowed 12 SCH via relevant transfer credit from another school plus 12 SCH of relevant portfolio (equivalent) credit for professional or life experience, then the length of your TSU degree program would be 24 SCH (or about eight courses.) For the undergraduate level, only courses with grades of "C" or better will transfer; at the graduate and doctoral levels, only courses with grades of "B" or better will transfer.

Bachelor's degree = 126 SCH MA = 48 SCH MDiv = 66 SCH DMin = 45 SCH PhD = 45 SCH

DEGREE PROGRAMS & ADMISSIONS OVERVIEW

ADMISSION PROCEDURES

- ◆ Pre-Application Review: With your Pre-Application you may submit a brief description of such things as the following: diplomas and degrees you have earned, and the total number of SCH of academic work completed; all types of prior academic work; Bible study and religious classes you have attended or taught; educational experiences; travel; study tours; continuing education courses; military service; military training; vocational training; work and/or professional experience; academic testing scores (such as CLEP); volunteer service; writing; research; published works. The Pre-Application and preliminary “portfolio” will be reviewed, and a degree program will be designed to meet your particular goals. [Remember that all applied transfer credit and portfolio (equivalent) credit remains tentative until documented in the Application process.] The Pre-Application process is not required, but is highly recommended.
- ◆ Formal Application: The formal application process requires the following: a completed Application; requested documentation such as transcripts and letters of recommendation; a detailed portfolio resume (if applicable) with requested documentation. Your Application and supporting documents will be carefully reviewed. You will be notified in writing when a decision is made regarding your Application.
- ◆ Registration: Upon the approval of your Application, you will enter the registration process, whereby you will select the specific courses for your initial registration. Once the registration document has been approved and signed by you, and tuition payment arrangements have been finalized, you will launch into the rewarding experience of being a TSU student.

DEGREE PROGRAMS: COLLEGE OF UNIVERSITY STUDIES

COLLEGE OVERVIEW

The TSU College of University Studies, in cooperation with the other TSU Colleges, awards four undergraduate degrees: the Bachelor of Arts (BA) in Biblical Studies or Theological Studies (with other emphases available; consult with the Registrar), the Bachelor of Religious Studies (BRS), the Bachelor of Interdisciplinary Studies (BIS), and the Bachelor of University Studies (BUS). TSU offers a wide selection of undergraduate courses provided by several of its Colleges: Biblical Studies, Theological Studies, Archaeology & Biblical History, Biblical Languages, Sacred Arts, Documentary Media, and Women's Studies & Christian Leadership. TSU's undergraduate courses are supported by faculty members qualified in and dedicated to their teaching disciplines.

For a bachelor's program, you may select courses from several of TSU's Colleges, in consultation with your advisor and the Dean of Admissions/Registrar. You may take them in any configuration in the completion of your degree requirements. If you take a particular titled TSU course at the undergraduate level, you cannot repeat it at the graduate level. (Example: If you take the course Christian Apologetics at the undergraduate level, you cannot take the graduate course in Christian Apologetics. You must select another course to take its place in your graduate program.)

The College of University Studies also offers several non-degree certificate and diploma programs. For details on certificate and diploma programs contact the TSU administrative office (phone: 505-33-BIBLE; email: admin@tsu-edu.us).

DEGREE PROGRAMS: COLLEGE OF BIBLICAL COUNSELING

COLLEGE OVERVIEW

The TSU College of Biblical Counseling exists for the purpose of training individuals to assist others in dealing with the complexities of life from a biblical perspective. Offering the MA, MDiv, and DMin degrees, the College affirms and teaches that Scripture is all-sufficient for developing and maintaining a holy and useful life in the service of Jesus Christ.

MASTER OF ARTS or MASTER OF DIVINITY in BIBLICAL COUNSELING

- Total semester credit hours (SCH): 48 (MA) or 66 (MDiv) (including relevant transfer and portfolio credit)
- MA prerequisites: a bachelor's degree (or equivalent) including 35 SCH general studies (or equivalent)
- MDiv prerequisites: a bachelor's degree (or equivalent)
- Language requirement: There is no language requirement; however, a good working knowledge of New Testament Greek is strongly recommended, because the New Testament addresses most of the contemporary counseling issues.

ACADEMIC ADVISOR

Upon admission to TSU as a matriculated student, you will be assigned an Academic Advisor. Your Academic Advisor is responsible for guiding you through the initial stages of your degree program and thereby facilitating your successful completion of it. He or she will be your primary resource for counsel in regard to contemplated changes to your program and any other academic issues that may arise. While the assignment of an Academic Advisor will be made by the Registrar based on faculty availability and perceived areas of common interest, we invite your suggestions. To the maximum extent possible, we will attempt to accommodate your preference.

ACADEMIC COMMITTEE

The Academic Committee makes all final determinations as to the application of TSU academic policies and procedures. The members of the Academic Committee are the Executive Dean, Dean of Academics, Dean of Students, Dean of Faculty, and the Dean of Admissions/Registrar.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

We aspire to excellence in all aspects of our research and instructional programs, wherein excellence is measured in terms of the learning experiences of our students, and their skills in accurately and powerfully applying the Bible, the Word of God, to every aspect of life, including all academic and scholarly pursuits.

ADVANCED CHRISTIAN TRAINING (ACT)

Through TSU's ACT program, you may attend any of our lecture or seminar classroom sessions for a very reasonable fee. As an ACT student, you will receive the same quality learning experience as our degree students, but there is no homework to turn in and there is no grade given (not available to TSU students). ACT courses do not become part of your permanent academic record, and they do not appear on TSU transcripts. To enroll in an on-campus classroom session as an ACT student, simply call the TSU office at (505) 332-4253, and ask to have your name placed on the class enrollment form as "ACT." Be prepared to use your credit or debit card to pay the $150 ACT fee, or you may use a check or money order. Upgrading from ACT status to either certificate or degree program status will be considered on a case-by-case basis. As an ACT student, should you desire to pursue such an upgrade, you will be required to provide a signed lecture attendance form for each lecture or seminar attended. For additional details, please refer to the Student Handbook.

APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION

Because of the nontraditional nature of TSU academic programs, you may apply for admission and begin your course of study at any time. Application may be obtained from the office of the Registrar. After evaluation of the application package, the Registrar will notify you of your admission status. If the application package is complete and satisfactory, you will be admitted as a regular student. If the package is incomplete, you may be admitted on a provisional basis. Please note that if you do not register within six months of admission, you must reapply.

CATALOG, CONTRACT

With the exception of tuition and fees, your initial registration determines the Academic Catalog that will govern your course of study. In essence, the Catalog is a legal contract between you and Trinity Southwest University. In particular, the Catalog that is operative at the time of your initial registration is the one that will govern your entire degree program unless you elect otherwise, or allow your registration to expire, i.e., to become inactive. Whenever a new version of the TSU Catalog is published, you will have an opportunity to examine it. You may request, in writing, that the Registrar place your degree program under the new Catalog. The Dean of the college in which you are studying must also approve your request. Such a request may require that a new registration be drawn up and activated (in such a case, it is possible that additional tuition and/or fees will be required).

TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #12b TOPICAL INFORMATION

CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS

Intermediate between the ACT and our degree programs are the TSU certificate and diploma programs. For the certificate program, you are awarded a certificate upon the completion of 5 certificate courses (by finishing designated modules of each certificate course). For the diploma program, you are awarded a diploma upon the completion of 10 diploma courses (by finishing designated modules of each diploma course.) You may begin your program at any time. All that is required is completion of our one-page Application Form and payment of the application fee. Payment for the complete 5 or 10 course program must be paid in advance. Please refer to the Tuition & Fees: Fact Sheet (Catalog). If you wish to pursue a certificate or diploma program, contact the office of the Registrar for more information and an Application Form. As a certificate or diploma program student, should you desire to upgrade to a degree program, you will be required to complete the degree application process and the additional modules for each course. Certificate courses are not transferable to other institutions.

COMMITMENT TO RESEARCH

The faculty of each of the colleges comprising Trinity Southwest University strives to perform cutting-edge research in the fields to which they are dedicated: Biblical Studies, Theological Studies, Biblical Languages, Archaeology & Biblical History, Biblical Counseling, Sacred Arts, Professional & Creative Writing, Documentary Media, and Women's Studies in Christian Leadership. Such research undergirds the development of TSU courses and faculty, and leads to the publication of articles, papers, and books in various fields of interest.

CONTINUING EDUCATION UNITS (CEUs)

You may need Continuing Education Unit (CEU) credits in order to maintain professional certification or to meet other requirements. All TSU lectures may be taken for CEU credit, and many meet the CEU requirements of the Association of Christian Schools International (ACSI) and other agencies and institutions. You will earn 3 CEUs for attending a complete 16–18 hour lecture/seminar series. To enroll in a lecture or seminar as a CEU student, call the TSU office at (505) 332-4253 and ask to have your name placed on the class enrollment form as “continuing education.” Be prepared to use your credit or debit card to make your tuition payment (or make other payment arrangements). Please refer to the Tuition & Fees: Fact Sheet (Catalog) for prices. At the end of the lecture/seminar series, you must complete a Lecture Attendance Form and have it signed by the instructor. Make a copy of this form for your records and submit the original to the office of the Registrar. Upon receipt of the completed form, a CEU Certificate will be generated and sent to you.

COURSE LOAD, GUIDELINES

Course load guidelines for determining if you are a full-time, half-time, or part-time student are expressed as follows in terms of the number of semester credit hours included on your paid, active registration.

Undergraduate students:

full-time—at least 24 SCH
half-time—at least 15 SCH but less than 24 SCH
part-time—12 SCH or less

Graduate students:

full-time—at least 24 SCH
half-time—at least 15 SCH but less than 24 SCH
part-time—12 SCH or less

Doctoral students:

The minimum registration of 15 SCH for doctoral students disallows categorization.

DEGREE PROGRAM

A degree program is a list of all the courses required for a given student to complete the qualifications for degree conferment.

TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #12c TOPICAL INFORMATION

ENROLLMENT

Enrollment is the completion of the application procedure, including processing through the office of the Registrar, and the payment of requisite tuition and fees, whereby an individual becomes a student.

EQUIVALENT CREDIT

TSU may grant equivalent (portfolio) credit for life, work, and ministry experience. Equivalent credit may also include military training, College Level Examination Program (CLEP) exam scores, and continuing education hours and units. The Registrar can help you identify the documentation needed to substantiate equivalent (portfolio) credit.

FACULTY CLASSIFICATION & DEVELOPMENT

The TSU Faculty is classified according to terminology defined by our nontraditional educational system. This system of definition applies whether a faculty member functions on campus or at a distance. The following terms and definitions apply to the TSU system: professor (functions in a “continuous access” capacity by way of teaching, advising and/or mentoring); associate professor (functions in a “periodic access” capacity by way of teaching, advising and/or mentoring); research professor (functions in a “continuous or periodic access” capacity by way of research and/or academic projects); visiting professor (provides lectures on a periodic basis by invitation of the university). The goal of the faculty of each TSU college is to model lifelong learning. This motivates each of us to stay abreast of, and engaged with, contemporary issues in our fields of interest and expertise through continual reading and research, while remaining faithful to our commitment to the authority of the Bible.

GENERAL STUDIES REQUIREMENT

The traditional educational establishment has determined that a certain mixture of studies (courses in writing and speaking English, mathematics, physical and natural sciences, social and behavioral sciences, humanities, foreign languages, and the arts) is advantageous for the successful development of a “well-rounded” learning experience. While the concept is not unworthy from an academic perspective, the assessments and applications of such standards are often medieval in their formulation. While we encourage broadness in learning, we also understand that life can be an even better teacher than formal educational processes. Therefore, our evaluations of students in terms of a general studies requirement for “Arts” degrees takes into consideration the full range of life experiences, whereby resultant learning can be truly diverse, extensive, and, not uncommonly, superior.

GRADE, MINIMUM PASSING

For individual courses, the minimum passing grade for undergraduate students is D; the minimum passing grade for Master of Arts students is B; the minimum passing grade for Master of Divinity students is C; the minimum passing grade for doctoral students is B.

GRADE POINT AVERAGE (GPA)

We calculate the number of grade points for each course by multiplying the number of points for the letter grade earned by the number of SCH for the course. Your grade point average (GPA) is calculated by dividing the total grade points earned by the total number of SCH attempted. For purposes of grade point average only, the following system applies:

- A = 3.8 to 4.0
- A - = 3.6 to 3.7
- B+ = 3.3 to 3.5
- B = 2.9 to 3.2
- B - = 2.6 to 2.8
- C+ = 2.3 to 2.5
- C = 1.9 to 2.2
- C - = 1.6 to 1.8
- D+ = 1.3 to 1.5
- D = 0.9 to 1.2
- D - = 0.6 to 0.8
- F = 0.0 to 0.5

TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #12d TOPICAL INFORMATION

GRADE POINT AVERAGE—ACADEMIC PROBATION

Academic probation results when your GPA falls below the minimum acceptable value for your degree program level. You cannot graduate while on academic probation.

Undergraduate students:

If you are an undergraduate degree student and your cumulative GPA falls below 1.9, you will be placed on academic probation. Academic probation will be removed when your cumulative GPA reaches 1.9 or better. Should you receive a course grade of D or below while on probation, you will be subject to dismissal from TSU.

Master of Divinity students:

If you are a MDiv student, and your cumulative GPA falls below 1.9, you will be placed on academic probation. Academic probation will be removed when your cumulative GPA reaches 1.9 or better. Should you receive a course grade of D or below while on probation, you will be subject to dismissal from TSU.

Master of Arts & doctoral students:

If you are an MA or doctoral student, and your cumulative GPA falls below 2.9, you will be placed on academic probation. Academic probation will be removed when your cumulative GPA reaches 2.9 or better. Should you receive a course grade of C or below while on probation, you will be subject to dismissal from TSU.

GRADE REPLACEMENT

The Academic Committee has established a procedure whereby a non-passing or substandard grade for a course may be replaced. For details on this procedure, please consult the Student Handbook. You should be forewarned that the procedure for replacing a non-passing or sub-standard grade is irreversible. Your new grade may not be higher than the old one. In fact, it may be lower.

GRADING, COURSE

TSU grades student coursework on a 4-point scale. On individual course grades, TSU does not give plus or minus grades (i.e., no A-, B+, etc.) The equivalence between numerical and letter grades is as follows:

- A = 4
- B = 3
- C = 2
- D = 1
- F = 0

GRADUATION, APPLICATION FOR

When you have completed all the coursework for your degree program, you may apply for graduation. This process entails your completing and formally submitting an Application for Graduation Form, available from the office of the Registrar, and by paying the required fee(s). Please refer to the Student Handbook for additional details. Attendance at graduation events and commencement ceremonies is not required. However, Trinity Southwest University graduation ceremonies are noted for being impressive and highly enjoyable. If you do plan to attend in person, your Application for Graduation must be received by the office of the Registrar no later than 3 months prior to the anticipated graduation date (usually held in mid-May and/or mid-September). If you do not attend the live graduation ceremonies, your diploma will be mailed to you.

GRADUATION WITH DISTINCTION

If your cumulative GPA is 3.9 or higher, the Academic Committee may evaluate your overall record for the awarding of honors. The Committee will consider the scope and content of your degree program, grades, commitment to scholarship, and other factors deemed relevant. If honors are awarded, your diploma will be inscribed "With Distinction" or "With High Distinction." The awarding of honors is entirely at the discretion of the Academic Committee and may not be applied for, nor may any decision of the Committee in this regard be appealed. TSU rarely awards honors, and then, only in the most extraordinary cases.

TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #12e TOPICAL INFORMATION

INTERNSHIP CREDIT

You may earn credit toward your degree by participating in an approved internship program. A TSU internship allows students to earn academic credit toward their degree program requirements. Credit is granted at the rate of 1 semester credit hour (SCH) for each 50 clock hours of internship work satisfactorily completed. Internship work is performed under the supervision of a TSU faculty member or approved internship mentor. If you desire to participate in an internship program, please refer to the Student Handbook for the details of formulating a proposal for presentation to the Dean of your college, or the Academic Committee. Your proposal must be approved in advance. Internships taken as scheduled courses in a degree program need not go through the approval process, but will be assigned to the student by the college Dean or a designated faculty member. Regular tuition rates per SCH apply.

LECTURES & SEMINARS (LIVE)

Most TSU courses do not require attendance at live lectures. However, practically every course syllabus provides live, classroom instruction as an optional learning module. See individual course syllabi for options and opportunities. TSU's on-campus Lecture/Seminar Schedule is published and updated frequently online. After each new TSU Lecture/Seminar Schedule is published, you should promptly review it for opportunities that fit your schedule and program needs. To attend a particular classroom session—whether it be a lecture, open seminar or symposium—you must contact the TSU office (by phone at 505-332-4253, or by e-mail at admin@tsu-edu.us) and ask to be placed on the classroom session enrollment list for a particular course or courses. Your call should be made as much in advance of the scheduled start of the classroom session as possible. Classroom sessions for which a minimum number of students have not enrolled may be cancelled. Unless your name is on the enrollment list, we will not be able to contact you in the event of classroom session cancellation. Remember that even if a particular course appears in your active registration, you are not automatically enrolled in the classroom session(s) pertaining to that course, because attendance at such classroom lectures/seminars is entirely optional. You must contact the TSU office to enroll in each classroom session that you desire to attend. (Additional details are provided in the Student Handbook.)

LECTURES & SEMINARS (LIVE) CANCELLED

It is conceivable that a classroom session in which you have enrolled may be cancelled due to lack of participation or reasons beyond TSU's control. If this should occur, your Academic Advisor or course professor will work with you either to identify a suitable replacement classroom session, or to define a learning module that would replace the classroom session for the course in question.

MAJORS AND MINORS

All degree programs consist of a major and electives, but with no minor.

MENTORING

The faculty of each of the TSU colleges and institutes embraces the value of mentoring through what we call "Shared Learning in Community." This mentoring ideal entails fostering an atmosphere in which degree students and faculty are able to experience mutual edification as the dynamics of the educational process unfold. While mentoring relationships between faculty and students are not always possible at a distance, we encourage such interaction and cooperation as we (to paraphrase the Apostle Paul) "entrust what we have learned to faithful individuals who will be able to teach others also."

MODULE, LEARNING

A learning module is a measured component of every TSU course, by which the student accomplishes a portion of the course learning objective. The two Foundational Learning Modules (consisting of reading, research and writing) take about 45 academic contact hours to complete, and are worth 1 SCH. Each of the remaining four modules takes approximately 22.5 academic contact hours for the average student to complete. Thus, for a 3 SCH course, you will complete six learning modules. Each 3 SCH course has two Foundational Learning Modules (required), and a balance of four learning modules to be selected from a long list of options. It is this unique modular course structure that enables TSU students to accelerate through their degree programs, not outside the routines of their established lives, ministries and professional responsibilities, but within the context of, and by means of, those routines. From this flow the phrases so commonly heard around Trinity Southwest University: "Quality Education at the Speed of Life," and "Your Life...Your Classroom!"

TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #12f TOPICAL INFORMATION

NON-MATRICULATED STUDENTS

You may wish to take TSU courses for regular academic credit, but not enroll in a TSU degree program. Should you elect to pursue studies in this manner, the course requirements, tuition, and fees are the same as for degree students. All completed coursework becomes part of your permanent academic record. The application process for non-matriculated students is simplified. You need only to complete our standard one-page Application for Admission Form, and provide proof of completing the education requirements for the degree level below that at which you wish to study. (Example: To study at the non-matriculated graduate level, you must provide a copy of your undergraduate diploma or college transcript.)

NONTRADITIONAL VS. TRADITIONAL EDUCATION

Some people need a traditional educational format. Some people need such structure and “spoon-feeding.” But it is not for everyone. For many, traditional education restricts the intellect and stifles critical, creative thinking. For others, the pathway of traditional higher education is impossible to pursue because family, job and ministry responsibilities prevent the necessary time and/or financial investment required by a regimen of class attendance and institutional schedules. But neither is nontraditional higher education for everyone. Frankly, people who are not self-starters—those without plenty of self-motivation and personal discipline—find nontraditional education very difficult. Is nontraditional higher education for you? Perhaps the following list of comparisons will help you decide.

Traditional education...

is institutionally oriented follows institutional deadlines happens on a school schedule runs on semesters or quarters happens when class meets dictates what assignments you'll do denies the academic value of real life stops for vacations produces graduates like an assembly line

Nontraditional education...

is student oriented is self-paced happens on your schedule runs 24-7-365, if you want or need it to happens as you pursue your life lets you create assignments that fit who you are embraces the academic value of real life can be a fabulous vacation launches creative, independent thinkers

OPEN LECTURES/SEMINARS

An open lecture/seminar (OLS) is used periodically or regularly by select TSU Colleges as a means of engaging students continuously apart from title-specific course lectures (this is particularly true in the College of Theological Studies and the College of Archaeology & Biblical History). An OLS meets for 3 hours once per week on a year-round basis (or as determined by the Dean of the College). Students “collect” 7 (seven) 3-hour OLS segments to equal one lecture module, which can be applied in any major course a student's degree program. Open lectures/seminars are periodically tracked through 3-day intensives (also called block courses). The OLS allows for a great deal of student-directed discussion, and allows lecturers to pursue questions and topics in great detail.

PORTFOLIO CREDIT

TSU may grant portfolio (equivalent) credit for life, work, and ministry experience. Portfolio credit may also include military training, College Level Examination Program (CLEP) exam scores, and continuing education hours and units. The Registrar can help you identify the documentation needed to substantiate portfolio (equivalent) credit. It will be your responsibility to exhibit the appropriate level of study during your program. Any deficiency in regard to the college you are enrolled in may require additional work to achieve an acceptable standard of performance.

REGISTRATION

After admission, your degree program is completed through either one or a series of registrations. An active registration consists of all or a portion of the degree program for which you have paid the appropriate tuition and fees. You may only obtain syllabi that pertain to the courses in your active registration. Upon completion of a registration, if you have not yet finished the degree program, you may initiate a subsequent registration through the office of the Registrar. If you register for your entire degree program on your initial registration, then the time period of that registration is five years. If you register for less than your entire degree program on your initial registration, then the time period of that registration, and all subsequent registrations, is two years.

TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #12g TOPICAL INFORMATION

REGISTRATION, EXPIRED

If you allow your registration to expire, i.e., to become inactive, then it will be necessary for you to reapply to TSU as a new student, which is more costly than extending your registration before it expires. The then current Catalog will automatically become the governing document for the academic aspects of the remainder of your degree program as long as you maintain an active registration.

REGISTRATION, INACTIVE

An inactive registration is defined as one for which the associated tuition and fees have not been paid, or one that has been allowed to expire, or one from which a student voluntarily withdraws. A registration becomes active only when all associated tuition and fees have been paid.

REGISTRATION, INCOMPLETE

In the event you are prevented from completing a registration due to life circumstances, you may petition the Academic Committee to temporarily withdraw from your registration for a period of up to 12 months. You must reactivate the registration within this temporary withdrawal period by paying the then-current Extension Fee. Otherwise, the registration will be terminated, and it will be necessary for you to reapply to TSU in order to continue your degree program. Please refer to the Student Handbook for additional details.

REGISTRATION PERIOD

The period of time allowed for completion of an initial, full-program registration is five (5) years, no matter the size of the registration. The period of time allowed for completion of a partial-program registration is two (2) years, no matter the size of the registration. If you do not complete a registration within the allotted time, you will need to request an extension and pay the appropriate extension fee as prescribed in the then-current Academic Catalog.

SECOND DOCTORATE PRIVILEGE

If you have a previously earned doctorate from a recognized institution, you may qualify for the second doctorate privilege. After reviewing your complete academic record, the Academic Committee may reduce the requirements of your TSU doctoral program.

SEMESTER CREDIT HOUR (SCH)

A semester credit hour (SCH) is a common unit of academic measurement whereby a certain number of “academic contact hours” (an academic contact hour is 50 minutes) of prescribed learning activities are translated into academic credit. Generally speaking, it takes 45 academic contact hours to equal one (1) SCH. So, the total academic contact hour investment in a 3 SCH course is approximately 135. [The traditional computation of 3 SCH is based on a class meeting 3 hours per week for a semester (usually 15 weeks). To this total of 45 contact hours of classroom time is added a handful of out-of-class assignments (theoretically) requiring another 90 academic contact hours to complete.] TSU uses the same kind of academic computation to determine its SCH course values (see paragraph on Module, Learning).

STUDENT COMPLAINTS & GRIEVANCES

If you believe you have been treated unfairly by a member of TSU’s staff or faculty, you have the right to seek redress. Your complaint should be clearly stated in writing and addressed to the TSU Dean of Students, who will refer the complaint to an impartial staff member or other responsible party for investigation and recommended resolution. No adverse actions will be taken against you for registering the complaint. You will be notified in writing within 30 days of the findings and any actions taken regarding the complaint. If you are not satisfied with the resolution, the complaint may be submitted to the New Mexico Commission on Higher Education. Complaints to the Commission must be in writing on a form provided by the Commission and filed within three (3) years of the last date of enrollment.

STUDENT CONDUCT

In accordance with our Doctrinal Position, there are behaviors and lifestyles in which students might engage that would be perceived as biblically inappropriate, either by the TSU Administration, or by the surrounding community. Should such a situation arise, the Dean of Students will provide counsel to the student in order to bring about a resolution. Failing this, the student may be subject to dismissal from TSU by action of the Academic Committee. Please refer to the Student Conduct section of the Student Handbook for additional details.

TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #12h TOPICAL INFORMATION

STUDENT HANDBOOK

Frequent references are made to your Student Handbook where additional policy and procedural details are provided. The Student Handbook is designed to provide practical guidance from initial enrollment to the point of graduation.

SYLLABUS, SYLLABI

TSU course syllabi are generally standardized (some courses diverge from the general pattern due to the nature of their content). The course syllabus is the guiding document that leads the student, module by module, through the fulfillment of the course requirements. Each syllabus has the following elements: a statement of General Procedure (what the course structure is); a summary of the Learning Objective (what you will learn); a listing of Course Resources (texts and materials for study and research); a detailing of Course Requirements (specifying the modules to be completed, both required and optional selections); a section on General Submission Instructions (how you will submit your coursework for grading); a paragraph outlining the Method of Evaluation (criteria entering into the grading process); and instructions for the Assessment of Guided Learning (in order to complete the Foundational Learning Modules). Once you are familiar with the TSU modular course structure, you will become a creative learner who experiences the entire scope of life as an exciting, engaging classroom.

TRANSFER CREDIT

TSU may grant academic transfer credit for courses completed at another university, college, vocational, technical, business, ministry, or professional school. For a course to be acceptable for transfer credit, it must be at the same level as the degree which you are seeking, and you must have earned at least a C grade (for undergraduate studies) or B grade (certain master's and all doctoral programs). The Academic Committee will determine the acceptability of transfer credits. You will need to contact each school you have attended, and have an official transcript sent to the TSU Dean of Admissions/Registrar for evaluation.

WITHDRAWAL PROCEDURE

Life circumstances may develop such that you are forced to withdraw from your degree program altogether. In order to do so, you must advise the Dean of Admissions/Registrar in writing. Withdrawal will be effective as of the postmark of your request, or the date it is received by the office of the Dean of Admissions/Registrar if delivered in another manner (such as an email). Please refer to the Tuition & Fees: Fact Sheet for pertinent information regarding refunds.

Archaeological Fieldwork & Methods (2 SCH each)

The rigor and procedures of archaeological data collection and the fundamentals of excavation methods and techniques are covered in these courses of study. Practical instruction in archaeological protocol(s) are discussed and evaluated. The use of current and emerging technologies, the integration of relevant disciplines, archaeometric techniques, and modern cultural protocols are topics of discussion in the Field School accompanying any approved archaeological excavation. The student will come away with a good sense of how an excavation project is organized, operated, and funded. The student will also gain a wealth of excavation experience, including experience at the supervisory level. The student has multiple options for the completion of fieldwork requirements. A minimum of two field seasons at an approved excavation project in the Near East is a base requirement. Unit evaluations are based on the number of ACH of experience gained. Generally, 1 unit is allowed for each week (45 ACH) of participation. Additional assignment credit can be given based on project rigor and related items such as associated research, writing, and publication.

Archaeological Laboratory (2 SCH)

This course provides an opportunity for the student to gain valuable experience in an archaeological laboratory setting, performing a variety of tasks such as: cleaning and processing excavated pottery and objects; object and ceramic preservation and restoration; field, square, locus, and period sorting of diagnostic pottery sherds; comparative analysis of diagnostic ceramics; object and ceramic drawing; specialized photography; analysis of faunal and human remains; flotation and identification of cultigens and natural vegetation (seeds and pollens); preparation of organic samples for radiocarbon dating; and related analytical processes.

Archaeology & History of Ancient Egypt (2 SCH)

This course presents an overview of the history and archaeology of ancient Egypt as they relate to the history and archaeology of the ancient Near East in general, and to the Bible in particular. Significant focus is placed on Egypt's Middle Kingdom, the Hyksos Period, the New Kingdom, and the pharaohs of the Late Period contemporaneous with the kings of Israel and Judah. Along the way, the Israelite Exodus is examined in its New Kingdom context, with various theories attempting to identify the pharaoh(s) who interacted with Moses.

Archaeology & History of Ancient Mesopotamia (2 SCH)

In the light of the Mesopotamian origins of the Hebrew patriarchs, this course overviews the history and archaeology of ancient Mesopotamia as a cultural backdrop for much of the OT narrative. Significant focus is placed on the rise and fall of the Mesopotamian kingdoms of Sumer, Akkad, Babylonia, Mittani, and Assyria. By examining details of ancient Mesopotamian history and culture, light is shed on many sections of biblical narrative.

Archaeology & History of the Jerusalem Area (2 SCH)

Jerusalem, the City of the Ages, has a history unlike any other in the Near East. Jerusalem's complex archaeological record—a still-unfolding saga—is a subject of intense interest and heated controversy. Through this course the student will gain a glimpse into the fascinating history and archaeology of Jerusalem and its environs from its beginnings through the Crusader Period.

Archaeology & History of the Jerusalem Temple (2 SCH)

The Temple Mount in Old Jerusalem is probably the most controversial piece of real estate in the history of the world. Its history and archaeology are partly historical fact, partly reasoned speculation, with a smattering of urban legend. This course traces the successive control and/or use of this sacred precinct by the ancient Canaanites, Jebusites, Israelites, Assyrians, Babylonians, Persians, Greeks, Selucids, Hasmoneans, Herodians, Romans, Byzantines, Moslems, and Crusaders, with particular emphasis on the history, architecture and archaeology of the First (Solomonic) and Second (Herodian) Temple Periods.

Archaeology & the Bible: Historical & Cultural Synchronisms (2 SCH)

Integrating biblical history into the histories of ancient Near Eastern kingdoms has often been generic and minimalistic, frequently emphasizing general cultural phenomena without substantive cause/effect correlations. This course identifies and details cause/effect synchronisms between biblical and ancient Near Eastern histories—Egypt, Hatti, Mittani, Assyria, Babylonia, and the Levant—as well as elements of cultural specificity embedded in the biblical narratives, all of which demonstrate the historical authenticity and veracity of the Old Testament, with particular focus on the Torah, Joshua, and Judges.

Archaeology of the New Testament Period (2 SCH)

This course examines the material culture of the New Testament era as revealed through the archaeological record of the Early Roman Period Levant, Asia Minor, and other important Roman sites mentioned in Scripture. Socio-cultural phenomena, as well as art, architecture and political structures are introduced. Emphasis is placed on archaeological data illuminating the text of the New Testament.

Biblical Hebrew (6 SCH)

This course introduces the fundamentals of Biblical Hebrew, the language of the Old Testament. It covers the alphabet and it introduces the noun inflection and system of agreement. It works through the verb inflection system with particular emphasis on verbal aspect and begins to give the student the opportunity to see how these tools are employed in the analysis of actual Hebrew texts. It sets the foundation for the student to appreciate the richness of Old Testament Hebrew.

Bronze Age & Biblical History (2 SCH)

The Early and Intermediate Bronze Age world of the pre-Abrahamic patriarchs; the Middle Bronze Age of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and Joseph; the Late Bronze backdrop of Moses, the Exodus, and the Israelite Conquest of Canaan—these are examined in this course which puts emphasis on ancient Near Eastern material culture, predominantly in the southern Levant. Topics include settlement dynamics, sedentary vs. nomadic populations, utilization of natural resources, city-state development, architecture, sanitation, burial customs, and how biblical history meshes with the Levantine Bronze Age.

Dissertation (15 SCH)

Under consultation with the Dean and Dissertation Committee Chair, the student will select an acceptable topic on which to perform original research and write a doctoral dissertation. The dissertation shall conform to SBL or Turabian format, with the text-proper being no less than 250 pages (not including bibliography, appendices, charts, tables, figures, etc.), and not exceeding 500 pages. Three TSU College of Archaeology faculty members and one external reader shall constitute the students dissertation committee. The topic must be 1) a unique contribution to the field of study and 2) incorporate aspects of both archaeology and biblical history. The dissertation shall be defended before the committee and other members of the TSU faculty.

Evolution of Warfare & Fortification Systems in the Ancient Near East (2 SCH)

Both biblical and ancient Near Eastern history are filled with stories of war and how cities and towns respond to the realities of such conflicts. This course focuses on the evolution of warfare tactics and methods through the history of the ANE. The interplay between weapons, battle strategies, and defensive architecture are examined in detail. Segments of biblical and ANE texts dealing with weapons, warfare, and defensive architecture are examined and compared.

Excavation Practicum & Field School (3 SCH)

On-site, hands-on experience in Near Eastern archaeology at an excavation project approved by the TSU College of Archaeology & Biblical History. Generally held in Israel and/or Jordan, this field experience brings the student into direct contact with applied archaeological methods and techniques, and also includes the exploration and study of historical/biblical sites in selected regions. Select Bible Lands Expedition itineraries may also qualify under this course title.

Iron Age & Biblical History (2 SCH)

The Iron Age 1 world of the early Israelite occupation of Canaan and the latter Judges; the Iron Age 2 world of Israel's United and Divided Monarchy; the rise of Neo-Assyria, Neo-Babylonia, and Persia—these are examined in this course which puts emphasis on ancient Near Eastern material culture, predominantly in the southern Levant. Topics include settlement dynamics, sedentary vs. nomadic populations, utilization of natural resources, city-state development, architecture, sanitation, burial customs, and how biblical history meshes with the Levantine Iron Age.

Koine Greek (6 SCH)

This course is a presentation of the fundamentals of Koine Greek, the language of the New Testament. It covers the Greek alphabet for both reading and writing, the declension and agreement of substantives, the inflection system of verbs (including finite and infinitive forms and verbals), modifiers and 'gluons', grammar and syntax analysis. the course will equip students with the basic skills needed to perform meaningful exegesis in the Greek New Testament. the emphasis of this course is to employ grammatical and syntactical tools in the careful analysis of selected New Testament texts. Phrasing, syntax diagramming, and contextualization are introduced, laying a foundation upon which students may increase their knowledge and understanding of Koine Greek going forward.

Laboratory: Faunal and Human Bone Analysis (2 SCH)

Hands-on experience in the Tall el-Hammam Excavation Project (TeHEP) Archaeology Research Center through which the student will learn methods of identifying animal and human bones (and teeth), the proper means of recording the data, and analytical approaches to the collected data.

Laboratory: Floatation Sample Analysis (2 SCH)

Hands-on experience in the Tall el-Hammam Excavation Project (TeHEP) Archaeology Research Center through which the student will learn methods of isolating organic material from excavated soil samples by floatation, and slide preparation for microscopic analysis.

Laboratory: Object and Ceramic Conservation (2 SCH)

Hands-on experience in the Tall el-Hammam Excavation Project (TeHEP) Archaeology Research Center through which the student will learn methods and skills for cleaning, conserving, and preserving excavated artifacts, including objects of stone, metal, wood, bone, ivory, ceramic, clay (unfired), glass, and other materials.

Languages & Cultures of the Ancient Near East (2 SCH)

The biblical landscape is populated with diverse cultures and people groups, and are an integral part of that history. This course introduces the student to the languages and writing systems of the ancient Near East (this is not a language course, but aimed at general familiarization), as well as to the peoples and kingdoms of the region, such as the Egyptians, Mesopotamians, Hittites, Mittanians, Hurrians, Canaanites, Amorites, Philistines, and others.

Levantine Ceramic Typology (2 SCH)

This course examines the chronological sequencing of ancient Levantine (Israel, Lebanon, Syria and the Transjordan) pottery types founded on both form-based and function-based methodologies that analyzes the general morphology, clay-body (fabric), and surface treatment of period and regional ceramics, yielding a reasonably reliable system of dating pottery-bearing archaeological strata. Hands-on inspection of whole vessels and sherds (rims, handles, bases and body sherds) provides support of textbook information.

Near Eastern Archaeology: Background & Methods (2 SCH)

This course examines the historical relationship between archaeology and the Bible, including: important personalities in, and contributors to, the field of Near Eastern and biblical archaeology; synchronizing ancient Near Eastern and biblical chronologies; important archaeological discoveries relating to the Bible; the foundations of archaeological methods and protocols; ascertaining the difference between archaeological realities and hoaxes; and the necessity of a dialogical relationship between archaeology and biblical studies.

Workshop: Advanced Ceramic Typology (2 SCH)

Hands-on experience in the Tall el-Hammam Excavation Project (TeHEP) Archaeology Research Center, working with diagnostic pottery sherds. The student will learn and practice advanced techniques for period and sub-period ceramic types based on vessel morphology, fabric (paste), surface treatment, decoration, and firing.

Workshop: Archaeological Drawing Techniques (2 SCH)

Hands-on experience in the Tall el-Hammam Excavation Project (TeHEP) Archaeology Research Center through which the student will learn techniques for producing drawings of artifacts (objects and pottery) for publication.

Workshop: Architectural Reconstruction Drawing in Archaeology (2 SCH)

Hands-on experience in the Tall el-Hammam Excavation Project (TeHEP) Archaeology Research Center through which the student will learn techniques for making archaeological reconstruction drawings of ANE architecture for publication.

Workshop: Ceramic Sorting: Tall el-Hammam Excavation Project (2 SCH)

Hands-on experience in the Tall el-Hammam Excavation Project (TeHEP) Archaeology Research Center, working with diagnostic pottery sherds. The student will learn and practice ceramic sorting by field, square, locus, and archaeological period, according to TeHEP needs and protocols.

BC—Biblical Counseling (by title; alphabetical order)

Biblical Counseling Internship (3 SCH)

A counseling experience in which a student works with counselees under the supervision of a professional biblical counselor in the context of a church or counseling organization. Approval of the Dean is required.

Comparative Analysis of Counseling Approaches (3 SCH)

This course teaches a biblical approach to counseling in comparison to other forms and theories of counseling. A side-by-side analysis is emphasized in order to differentiate a biblical from a non-biblical method.

Conflict Resolution (3 SCH)

This course provides a biblical template for examining 'conflict'. Because conflict is unavoidable, the biblical counselor must be prepared to offer a biblical strategy for facing and resolving any and all conflict a counselee experiences. The principles of reconciliation and restoration are presented in this course.

Contemporary Issues & Critical Thinking (3 SCH)

This course focuses on contemporary issues affecting the Church. Students are challenged to examine their own position regarding these various issues in order to determine if the counsel they might provide is truly biblical. A biblical grid for the examination of any contemporary issue is necessary in the establishment of a counseling ministry.

Counseling Practicum I (3 SCH)

A counseling experience in which a student works with counselees under the supervision of a professional biblical counselor. Approval of the Dean is required.

Counseling Practicum II (3 SCH)

A counseling experience in which a student works with counselees under the supervision of a professional biblical counselor. Approval of the Dean is required.

Crisis Counseling (3 SCH)

An examination of different crises addressed in the Bible for the purpose of establishing a biblical approach in addressing a crisis. In examining a crisis, students are taught to divide the crisis into its various components in order to assist a counselee in formulating and implementing a biblical strategy. The principles of biblical discernment and providing hope to a counselee are also addressed.

Fundamentals of Biblical Counseling I (3 SCH)

A study of the fundamental concepts and components of biblical counseling. The course provides a definition of biblical counseling and focuses on its goal. This course examines those involved in the context and process of biblical counseling establishing the forms and methods of approaching life's issues from a biblical frame of reference.

Fundamentals of Biblical Counseling II (3 SCH)

This course reviews case studies providing an opportunity for students to examine issues presented within the framework of the Gospel and biblical anthropology. Students are required to establish and maintain a biblical theological approach in providing direction and solutions to the counselee.

Independent Study (3 SCH)

A course of study to be determined by the academic advisor and the student to meet the requirements of the program.

Marriage & the Family (3 SCH)

An examination of the biblical model of marriage and family. In light of the current attacks on the sanctity of marriage and the family, students examine a variety of issues pertaining to marriage and the family. This course examines the husband/wife relationship, the parent/child relationship, and the priority of these relationships.

Pre-Marital Counseling (3 SCH)

This course examines the biblical requirements for marriage providing the counselor and the engaged couple a biblical framework for assessing an engaged couple's readiness for marriage. An examination of marriage provides the foundation for pre-marital counseling highlighting the importance of a commitment to the covenant of marriage at each juncture of the process. The multifaceted issues of life in marriage are addressed such as; faith, covenant, family, finances, sexuality, children, conflict, goals, expectations and other life's issues.

B&TS—Biblical & Theological Studies (by title; alphabetical order)

Biblical Exegesis and Exposition (3 SCH)

This course will equip the student to skillfully and effectively practice both the science and the art of exegesis and exposition as applied to specific Biblical passages by way of example. The course will sensitize the Student to the thought structure employed by Biblical author as a guide to powerful exposition of the passage in question. It will also equip the student to guard against common errors in handling the Biblical text.

Biblical Hermeneutics (3 SCH)

Hermeneutics is the science of interpretation, and Biblical hermeneutics deals with the principles of interpretation that apply to the Bible. Right handling of the text of Scripture requires that any given passage be interpreted within its canonical, theological, historical, cultural, and literary context. The primary objective of correct interpretation is to discover the meaning intended by the original author and derived by the original audience as they processed the text orally. This course will equip the student to rightly handle the text of Scripture, including the derivation of normative principles that are applicable to contemporary life and ministry.

Christian Apologetics (3 SCH)

Apologetics is the science of explicating the absolute truth claims of Scripture in such a way as to remove intellectual barriers to the gospel of salvation in Jesus Christ. This course will equip the student to practice evidential apologetics, the cornerstone of which is the resurrection of Jesus Christ. The rules of evidence are applied to the documented eyewitness accounts of Christ's resurrection to determine the strength of that evidence and thereby reach a verdict concerning the factuality or non-factuality of the resurrection event.

English Tools for Biblical Languages (3 SCH)

This course equips the student to do a credible job of exegesis of the Biblical text – that is, the Old Testament in Hebrew and the New Testament in Greek – through the use of English-based tools, including the following: lexicons, concordances, a variety of English translations, interlinear Bibles, commentaries, Biblical data bases on computer, and the worldwide web. The student will also be sensitized to the importance of ascertaining the grammar and syntax of the Hebrew or Greek text underlying an English translation.

Exegetical Theology (3 SCH)

This course seeks to impact entry level theologians in the basics of correct derivation for theological meaning and application of a biblical text. To impart a knowledge of basic tools and understanding for the processes of proper biblical interpretation and application as derived from holistic exegesis; including, the abilities to analyze through literary design, to develop intelligent reading skills, to equip the student to bring modern relevant application from a biblical text, to identify the historical- grammatical method, and to introduce the role of original language in exegesis.

History of Christian Thought I (3 SCH)

The course is a survey course in the history of Christian thought not a course in Church history. The primary goal of this course is to investigate the major interactions between Christian thought and practice within its cultural background throughout its history. Students will learn of major patterns within Christian thought, major figures within these patterns, and major cultural interactions. The student will become familiar with the major events and figures in the history of Christian thought and will be able to form an assessment of the effect of Christian thought throughout history as well as the effect it has today.

History of Christian Thought II (3 SCH)

This course is a continuation of the History of Christian Thought, 1st Century to 1500 course. This course will cover the timeline between 1500 and the present.

Thinking Critically about the Hebrew Scriptures (3 SCH)

Among the subject areas addressed in this course are the following: the major overarching theological themes of the Hebrew Scriptures; the process of establishing the canonical structure of the Old Testament according to both the Hebrew tradition and the Christian tradition; the significance and method of handling the chronological information embedded into the Hebrew Scriptures; the documentary theories and hypotheses relating to the development of the Hebrew Scriptures; date and authorship of each of the Old Testament books; and the theological themes contributed by each of the individual books.

Thinking Critically about the New Testament (3 SCH)

You will...

- comprehend highlights of the scope and content of the New Testament.
- understand the original purpose of each book and associated pivotal events, important dates, significant geographical locations, and key characters.
- know and analyze the rise of New Testament form criticism, as well as its development, applications, value and shortcomings.
- know and understand the elements of the (so-called) synoptic problem and related form critical issues.
- interact with issues and views regarding the date and authorship of New Testament books.
- synthesize the over-arching message of the New Testament as a whole.

Theology of the Book of Hebrews (3 SCH)

The book of Hebrews is described as a unique writing in the New Testament connecting the Old Testament to the New Testament. This course will facilitate the student's serious engagement with the following subject areas: the author, approximate date of writing, the historical context of Hebrews; the writer's primary purpose in writing the book; and the principal doctrines of the Christian faith as set forth in the book.

Theology of the Book of Revelation (3 SCH)

The Book of the Revelation is organized according to the three-part outline of "the things which you have seen, and the things which are, and the things which will take place after these things." [Revelation 1:19, NASB] Most of the book is occupied with a series of visions that describe the terminal events of human history that will precede and accompany the second coming of Jesus Christ, the millennial kingdom, the final judgment, and the eternal state of human personalities.

Theology of the Book of Romans (3 SCH)

The Epistle to the Romans can be described as Paul's discussion of the gospel of God and its application to the life and ministry of the Christian. This course will facilitate the student's serious engagement with the following subject areas: the author, approximate date of writing, and the historical context of Romans; Paul's primary purpose in writing the book; and the principal doctrines of the Christian faith as set forth in the book.

Theology of the New Testament (3SCH)

This course will give the student and introduction to definitions of; kerygma, euangelion, and the gospel. The purpose of the course is to define two principles of the New Testament: the Kingdom of God, and the righteous believer. It will also define the gospel, its components, the use of the Gospel in the Epistles, and how to correctly apply the Gospel for both personal and church growth. This course is designed to be inductive and interactive with focus on personal discovery.

MAXIMIZING PORTFOLIO CREDIT

WHAT IS PORTFOLIO (EQUIVALENT) CREDIT?

Portfolio (or equivalent) credit consists of ascertaining the scholastic/academic weight of a student's professional experience, ministry experience, and overall cumulative life experience, for the purpose of determining their semester-credit-hour-value toward a degree program (as long as they have not been previously applied in an academic context). Although credit may be granted toward your degree, you will be responsible to exhibit an appropriate level of knowledge during your program. Any deficiency in regard to the college you are enrolled in may require additional work to achieve an acceptable standard of performance.

IS PORTFOLIO EVALUATION ACADEMICALLY CREDIBLE?

The application of portfolio credit toward degree program requirements is known throughout the realm of academics. However, many traditional educational institutions do their best to minimize or avoid the issue of portfolio credit because, frankly, it's easier and more profitable to make students pay for as many courses as possible. Yet, it is a universally-recognized fact that hands-on, real-life experience—whether in business, ministry, medicine, science, teaching, or just about any field—has great value, often superior value, relative to the process of learning. At TSU we seek to maximize the application of relevant real-world experience to the pursuit of degree goals.

HOW DO I PUT A PORTFOLIO TOGETHER?

Following a good résumé or vita format, list by category all of your life, work and ministry experience that may have academic value. Be sure to include the length of each experience in hours, days, months or years [some examples: associate pastor, 5 years (part-time); senior pastor, 12 years (full-time); (title) leadership conference, 5 days, 1999; tour of Europe (specify), 16 days, 2003]. Beyond the obvious, don't forget things like conferences, seminars, lectures, symposia, travel, travel-study, scholarly books and journal articles you have read, speaking, teaching, preaching, Bible studies (both formal and informal), personal writing (articles, books, and papers), study/research (both formal and informal), participation in missions and community service. Be detailed and precise, but succinct (don't write a narrative!).

HOW MUCH DOCUMENTATION MUST I PROVIDE?

Generally, you'll need to document employment and/or professional experience (usually a suitable letter of verification or reference will suffice). Once the Academic Committee has reviewed your portfolio, you will be notified concerning all required documentation, and the nature of that documentation. This process is simple and straightforward. And we understand that some experiences may be difficult or impossible to document, and must be taken at face value. Just remember that it's our desire to maximize, not minimize, your portfolio!

HOW MUCH EQUIVALENT CREDIT CAN I GET FROM A PORTFOLIO?

The amount of equivalent credit, in semester credit hours (SCH), depends on two factors: a) the amount of legitimate scholastic/academic weight represented by your portfolio (as determined by the Academic Committee); and b) the requirements of the elective and major sections of the degree program you wish to pursue. What the Academic Committee is looking for is relevancy. On the one hand, using portfolio credit to satisfy program electives is the more flexible determination. On the other hand, using portfolio credit to reduce the number of courses in the major section of a degree program invokes the concept of relevancy in a more stringent manner. The Academic Committee will make the final determination as to the value of a portfolio toward your degree program.

WHAT DOES IT COST TO APPLY PORTFOLIO CREDIT TO MY DEGREE PROGRAM?

The cost per SCH for applying portfolio (equivalent) credit to your degree program ranges from $20 per SCH (undergraduate), to $25 per SCH (graduate), to $30 per SCH (doctoral). (Remember, there is no charge for transcribed academic credit from another institution.) You will only be charged for the specific SCH valuation applied to your degree program. Portfolio fees will be applied to your initial registration.

MAXIMIZING PORTFOLIO CREDIT

WHAT IS PORTFOLIO (EQUIVALENT) CREDIT?

Portfolio (or equivalent) credit consists of ascertaining the scholastic/academic weight of a student's professional experience, ministry experience, and overall cumulative life experience, for the purpose of determining their semester-credit-hour-value toward a degree program (as long as they have not been previously applied in an academic context). Although credit may be granted toward your degree, you will be responsible to exhibit an appropriate level of knowledge during your program. Any deficiency in regard to the college you are enrolled in may require additional work to achieve an acceptable standard of performance.

IS PORTFOLIO EVALUATION ACADEMICALLY CREDIBLE?

The application of portfolio credit toward degree program requirements is known throughout the realm of academics. However, many traditional educational institutions do their best to minimize or avoid the issue of portfolio credit because, frankly, it's easier and more profitable to make students pay for as many courses as possible. Yet, it is a universally-recognized fact that hands-on, real-life experience—whether in business, ministry, medicine, science, teaching, or just about any field—has great value, often superior value, relative to the process of learning. At TSU we seek to maximize the application of relevant real-world experience to the pursuit of degree goals.

HOW DO I PUT A PORTFOLIO TOGETHER?

Following a good résumé or vita format, list by category all of your life, work and ministry experience that may have academic value. Be sure to include the length of each experience in hours, days, months or years [some examples: associate pastor, 5 years (part-time); senior pastor, 12 years (full-time); (title) leadership conference, 5 days, 1999; tour of Europe (specify), 16 days, 2003]. Beyond the obvious, don't forget things like conferences, seminars, lectures, symposia, travel, travel-study, scholarly books and journal articles you have read, speaking, teaching, preaching, Bible studies (both formal and informal), personal writing (articles, books, and papers), study/research (both formal and informal), participation in missions and community service. Be detailed and precise, but succinct (don't write a narrative!).

HOW MUCH DOCUMENTATION MUST I PROVIDE?

Generally, you'll need to document employment and/or professional experience (usually a suitable letter of verification or reference will suffice). Once the Academic Committee has reviewed your portfolio, you will be notified concerning all required documentation, and the nature of that documentation. This process is simple and straightforward. And we understand that some experiences may be difficult or impossible to document, and must be taken at face value. Just remember that it's our desire to maximize, not minimize, your portfolio!

HOW MUCH EQUIVALENT CREDIT CAN I GET FROM A PORTFOLIO?

The amount of equivalent credit, in semester credit hours (SCH), depends on two factors: a) the amount of legitimate scholastic/academic weight represented by your portfolio (as determined by the Academic Committee); and b) the requirements of the elective and major sections of the degree program you wish to pursue. What the Academic Committee is looking for is relevancy. On the one hand, using portfolio credit to satisfy program electives is the more flexible determination. On the other hand, using portfolio credit to reduce the number of courses in the major section of a degree program invokes the concept of relevancy in a more stringent manner. The Academic Committee will make the final determination as to the value of a portfolio toward your degree program.

WHAT DOES IT COST TO APPLY PORTFOLIO CREDIT TO MY DEGREE PROGRAM?

The cost per SCH for applying portfolio (equivalent) credit to your degree program ranges from $20 per SCH (undergraduate), to $25 per SCH (graduate), to $30 per SCH (doctoral). (Remember, there is no charge for transcribed academic credit from another institution.) You will only be charged for the specific SCH valuation applied to your degree program. ON-CAMPUS & SPECIAL OPPORTUNITIES

ON-CAMPUS & SPECIAL OPPORTUNITIES AS COURSE MODULES

As you're moving through your TSU degree program, you may want to take advantage of the many learning opportunities taking place at the Trinity Southwest University campus in Albuquerque. If you already live in the greater Albuquerque area, then you can participate with ease. If you live at a distance from Albuquerque, in another state or country, you can still take advantage of on-campus opportunities by making a trip to Albuquerque (it's easy to get to from just about anywhere). The immediate TSU area has hotels (Marriott Pyramid Hotel and Marriott Courtyard Hotel) within easy walking distance of campus facilities, and numerous hotels within less than a 2-minute drive from campus. There are six restaurants and a Starbucks with a hundred-yard radius of TSU's Husted Hall and Archaeology Museum. The campus area also includes a greenbelt with lots of grass and trees, and walking/jogging paths. The weather is usually fantastic, and it's a great vacation destination, too, with breathtaking vistas, and internationally-renowned Santa Fe (The City Different) only a short drive away. And every opportunity TSU offers is available to be taken as course credit or modular credit! Here are some of the kinds of opportunities that await you...

COURSE LECTURES/SEMINARS

The TSU on-campus lecture/seminar program offers a full schedule of open lectures/seminars and course lectures each semester. For the convenience of those taking on-campus lectures and open lecture/seminar modules, the semester is divided into two sessions, each seven weeks in length. Course lectures (i.e., lectures for specifically-titled courses) are held in one of two formats: 7-week (session) or block (intensive). In the 7-week session format, lectures meet once per week, for 3 hours, for a total of 21 clock hours. In the block (intensive) format, lectures meet 7 hours per day, for 3 consecutive days, for a total of 21 clock hours (thus, it's handy to have a Starbucks less than 75 feet from TSU's main lecture hall!). The 3-day format of block (intensive) lectures makes them ideal for distance students who desire to complete some of their modules on campus. The open lecture/seminar (OLS) differs from a course lecture in this manner: OLSs are free-flowing lectures/seminars running continuously throughout the year. They are held by individual colleges on a certain day and time each week (holidays excepted!). The subject matter is driven by student questions, relevant current events and topics, and course lectures needed by students. The OLS allows for detailed discussions and the addressing of a wide range of (relevant!) subjects without having to worry about time constraints. Some deans use this format extensively, others offer titled lectures. Open lectures/seminars are also offered in two formats: 7-week (session) or block (intensive), as outlined above. Most regular on-campus course lectures and open lectures/seminars—in many of the TSU colleges—are included in your degree program tuition (there are a few exceptions).

S-LECTURES

The "S" in S-Lecture stands for "special" and "short." S-Lectures are designed to allow TSU faculty members and invited scholars to lecture on a wide variety of topics outside the scope of regular course lectures. S-Lectures such as "What Happens to Christians When They Die: A Study in Non-Linear Reality" and "Will the Real Pharaoh of the Exodus Please Stand Up!" (and hundreds of other topics) are designed to challenge the imagination and push the limits of traditional thinking. TSU offers several S-Lectures per semester, held in Husted Hall. Seven S-Lectures can be grouped together and used by students for modular credit. See course syllabi for details. There is no charge for S-Lectures, and they are open to the public as long as seating is available.

SYMPOSIA & CONFERENCES

TSU periodically hosts major symposium and conference events on a variety of subjects. Renowned scholars are brought in from around the country, and often from around the world, to speak on diverse of issues and topics. TSU symposia and conferences have ranged in subject matter from biblical archaeology to spiritual deliverance. The International Symposium on Archaeology & the Bible, held periodically, is a world-class event drawing scholars and participants from around the globe. All such TSU events can be taken for course credit as learning modules. (The cost of Symposia and Conferences is not included in degree program tuition; however significant discounts are always given to TSU students.)

REGIONAL LECTURES & SEMINARS

TSU faculty members periodically hold lectures and/or seminars in a variety of venues around the United States, and in other countries as well. TSU has lecture/seminar sites hosted by churches and institutions across the USA (typically in northern and southern California, and in Virginia near Washington DC). Instructions on how to receive modular credit for attending such lectures and seminars can be found in every TSU syllabus. Please contact the TSU administrative office for more information.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL EXCAVATIONS

The TSU College of Archaeology is well into its second decade of excavation at Tall el-Hammam (Sodom), eight miles northeast of the Dead Sea in Jordan. The excavation season takes place during the winter months of January, February, and March (when the weather at the site is picture-perfect!). Students, as well as members of the public, interested in the Tall el-Hammam Excavation Project (TeHEP) are welcome to join the team. Students can receive credit toward their degree program by participating in the dig. Other TSU-related excavations in Israel and Jordan are also available during the late-spring and summer months. Please contact TSU for more information on these wonderful opportunities to unearth biblical history! Contact the TSU office (phone: 505-33-BIBLE; email: admin@tsu-edu.us) for details.

BIBLE LAND EXPEDITIONS

Bible Land Expeditions, sponsored by TSU's College of Archaeology & Biblical History, are the most comprehensive study tours available. These are not "pilgrim" tours dragging you from one "holy site" to another. BLEs are for serious students of the Bible who want to walk and study the land of the Bible led by expert archaeologists, historians, and Bible scholars who are intimately familiar with Israel and Jordan. Typical Holy Land tours just can't compare with what Bible Land Expeditions do. And there is no skimping on BLEs—always first-rate accommodations and food. Learn The Book firsthand as you follow its characters from one end of the Holy Land to the other. BLEs generally take place each fall (late October into the first half of November). This time of year is specifically chosen for its clear weather, comfortable temperatures, and less tourists. Full course credit is available for every BLE experience. TSU CATALOG FACT SHEET #16a TUITION & FEES

Trinity Southwest University works very hard to keep the cost of tuition and fees as affordable as possible. Tuition is charged by the semester credit hour (SCH). And you can realize significant savings by registering for larger portions of your degree program, and by paying your registration in full. (If you desire a payment program, you will need to consult with an Admissions Advisor for terms and conditions.)

Because TSU degree programs are nontraditional and self-paced, the length of your active registration (the timeframe allotted for the completion of courses on a given registration) is either two years or five years. A two-year active period is granted for all registrations that are less than the full degree program. (Example: If the total number of semester credit hours in your degree program is 48, and your initial paid registration is for 24 semester credit hours, then you have two years to complete the courses on that registration. And all subsequent registrations will be for two years, until your degree program is completed.) A five-year active period is granted for all registrations that include the entire degree program. (Example: If the total number of semester credit hours in your degree program is 48, and your initial registration includes all 48 SCH, then you have five years to complete the courses on that registration.) If you do not complete the courses on your registration during the active period of two or five years, then you can file for an extension (fee is computed on the number of SCH for unfinished courses on that registration).

Your payment options include check (no cash, please), money order, direct bank draft, bank debit card, or credit card (Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Discover).

TUITION REFUND POLICY

A registration becomes active only when full or initial payment is received and processed. If, after activating a registration by payment of tuition, a student desires to dis-enroll, the student must formally notify the TSU Registrar in writing, either electronically or by mail. From that point, the following refund schedule applies for the total amount of tuition on the registration: up to 3 days, 100% is refundable (less a processing fee of $150); after 3 to 30 days, 80% is refundable; after 30 to 45 days, 50% is refundable; after 45 to 60 days, 30% is refundable; after 60 days, 0% is refundable. The refund schedule is based on the total amount of tuition on the registration, not on the amount paid toward that total via a payment program.

MINIMUM REGISTRATION REQUIREMENT

The minimum registration for undergraduate and graduate programs is 9 semester credit hours (SCH), or three courses. The minimum registration for a doctoral program is 15 SCH, or one-third of the total program. Minimum registration does not apply to non-degree students.
